Department Mission Statement

To be the preeminent baccalaureate institution producing quality graduates well versed in the art of applying science to engineering and technological problems, for practical positions in the workplace. This is accomplished by providing excellence in theoretical and practical instruction to a diverse student population, through a dedicated faculty, and the engagement of key external constituencies, including, employers, industry experts, and professional organizations.

Departmental Guidelines for Faculty Evaluation for Retention, Tenure, and Promotion to Associate Professor

Retention, Tenure, and Promotion to Associate Professor Departmental Guidelines for Faculty Evaluation

The following guidelines apply to tenure-track faculty and incorporate changes to the latest edition of the Handbook for Professional Personnel.

Faculty must meet all contractual obligations, requirements, and responsibilities, and adhere to policies relating to employee and student conduct as put forth in the latest edition of the Handbook for Professional Personnel and have a record of conduct consistent with professional standards in Appendix A of this document, and show sustained growth in all three evaluation areas to be considered for tenure and promotion to Associate Professor.

The College of Professional Studies is committed to a holistic view of the tenure candidate in terms of evaluating his/her performance as part of the big picture of the work and accomplishments in all three areas over the review period. In order to achieve tenure and promotion to associate professor, a candidate must show evidence of effective teaching as well as demonstrate proficiency in the two other evaluation areas based on the guidelines.

FACULTY MUST MEET ALL OF THE FOLLOWING CRITERIA FOR EACH EVALUATION AREA TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR TENURE AND PROMOTION TO ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR.

Teaching

The College of Professional Studies values quality teaching with a focus on student learning that supports development of the knowledge and skills necessary to be an effective professional in the field. Earning tenure requires faculty to continue professional growth and development. In the teaching area, this may include participating in activities such as faculty learning communities, peer observation cohorts, and/or workshops and conferences focused on teaching. Faculty members are encouraged to employ innovative and creative teaching methods and technology that stimulate learning through a multifaceted teaching and learning environment. Given the diverse nature of our student body, teaching and advising that supports student success and increases cultural awareness is highly valued.

Teaching is the act of creating and maintaining an environment which enhances the opportunities for student learning and discipline-related growth; it includes advising students to facilitate graduation and to transition to post-baccalaureate careers or further educational opportunities. From the latest edition of the Handbook for Professional Personnel,

Teaching is a complex and reflective human activity that, in the higher education context, is offered in a forum that is advanced, semi-public, and essentially critical in nature. No single definition can possibly suffice to cover the range of talents that go into excellent teaching or that could be found across the board in the varied departments and disciplines of an entire university. Good teachers are scholars, researchers, inventors, scientists, creators, artists, professionals, investigators, practitioners or those with advanced expertise or experience who share knowledge, using appropriate methodologies, and who demonstrate and encourage enthusiasm about the subject matter in such a way as to leave the student with a lasting and vivid conviction of having benefited from that interaction.

Effective teachers typically maintain high academic standards, prepare students for professional work and development, facilitate student achievement, and provide audiences for student work. Some might add that the best teaching transmits specific skills or enhances talents that students possess, while others would note that good teaching develops habits of mind or provides models of scholarly, scientific, artistic or professional behavior and inquiry much more important than particular information. Faculty typically aspire to a number of other civic purposes in the classroom that may also include encouraging their students to long for the truth, to aspire to achievement, to emulate heroes, to become just, or to do good, for example. At the instructional level, the most important responsibilities of a teacher to his/her students are the following:

- 1) Content Expertise: To demonstrate knowledge and/or relevant experience. Effective teachers display knowledge of their subject matters in the relevant learning environment (classroom, on-line, hybrid, field work, etc.), which typically includes the skills, competencies, and knowledge in a specific subject area in which the faculty member has received advanced experience, training, or education.*
- 2) Instructional Design: To re-order and re-organize this knowledge/experience for student learning. Effective teachers design course objectives, syllabi, materials, activities, and experiences that are conducive to learning.*
- 3) Instructional Delivery: To communicate and "translate" this knowledge/experience into a format accessible to students. Effective teachers communicate information clearly, create environments conducive to learning, and use an appropriate variety of teaching methods.*
- 4) Instructional Assessment: To evaluate the mastery and other accomplishments of students. Effective teachers design assessment procedures appropriate to course objectives, ensure fairness in student evaluation and grading, and provide constructive feedback on student work.*

5) Advising In and Beyond the Classroom: To provide guidance for students as they pursue undergraduate and post-baccalaureate education and/or employment. Effective advisors interact with students to provide career guidance and information, degree program guidance and information (e.g., advice on an appropriate schedule to facilitate graduation), and answers to questions relating to a discipline.

FACULTY SHALL DEMONSTRATE EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING BY MEETING THE FOLLOWING TEACHING CRITERIA:

Additional criteria for Retention, Tenure and Promotion to Associate Professor Departmental Guidelines for Faculty Evaluation in Engineering and Engineering Technology can be found in Appendix C.

1. Content Expertise:

- Updating courses taught and staying current in information presented in classes.

2. Instructional Design:

- Involved in curriculum development and maintenance.

3. Instructional Delivery:

- Demonstrates appropriate and effective use of class delivery to achieve course objectives.
- Receives SRI's that over time reflect student's ratings and comments that are in alignment with department norms. SRI's will be evaluated in a broad context, not based on the numerical score alone because there are many factors that influence SRI scores including but not limited to: teaching a new course or a course for the first time, a shift in pedagogy, and course format (on site, online, or hybrid), class size, response rate, whether a course is upper or lower division, required or elective, etc. All factors will be taken into consideration when evaluating SRI scores. Reviewers will detail the factors that entered into their decision making process in their respective review letters. At a minimum, during the review period, mean scores should be in line with department norms.
- Additional peer evaluations may be required by the department.

4. Instructional Assessment:

- Actively participates in effective evaluation of individual students, individual courses, and program, including yearly assessment reports, program review, and, if a program is accredited, accreditation.

5. Advising

- Post and hold five (5) office hours on campus per week. Meet with students at other times as needed and other requirements for advising.
- Uses University wide digital systems for advising.

Scholarly Activities

The College of Professional Studies values faculty scholarship and expects faculty to engage in ongoing professional development to remain current in their areas of expertise through activities such as participating in trainings, workshops, conferences, and/or certification processes. In addition, faculty must participate in scholarly discussions by sharing their knowledge via presentations, publications, and other appropriate forms of scholarship in forums in which scholarly activities are peer reviewed. We encourage faculty to engage in collaborative forms of scholarship and we support a broad definition of scholarship which includes the scholarship of teaching and learning and the scholarship of application as defined in the Boyer model for scholarship.

From the latest edition of the Handbook for Professional Personnel,

Scholarly and creative activities are disciplinary or interdisciplinary expressions or interpretations that develop ideas, frame questions, create new forms of representation, solve problems, or explore enduring puzzles.

Purposes include, but are not limited to, the following: advancing knowledge or culture through original research or creative activities; interpreting knowledge within or across disciplines; synthesizing information across disciplines, across topics, or across time; aiding society or disciplines in addressing problems; or enhancing knowledge of student learning and effective teaching.

Typically, to be considered scholarship, findings should be disseminated to either peer review by disciplinary scholars or professional or governmental organizations; or critical reflection by a wider community, including corporations or non-profit organizations, for example.

In addition to these scholarly activities, and depending on the specific Department Guidelines, this category may also include activities in which the faculty member shares other knowledge with members of the learned and professional communities; continued education and professional development activities appropriate to professional status or assignments; and other activities specific to the faculty member's discipline or assigned responsibilities.

FACULTY SHALL DEMONSTRATE EXCELLENCE IN SCHOLARLY ACTIVITIES BY MEETING THE FOLLOWING SCHOLARLY ACTIVITY CRITERIA:

Additional criteria for Retention, Tenure and Promotion to Associate Professor Departmental Guidelines for Faculty Evaluation in Engineering and Engineering Technology can be found in Appendix C.

The faculty member must complete at least one of the following:

- Acceptance of an article in a peer reviewed journal.* Journal articles must be scholarly in nature. Opinion or “popularization of the field” pieces written for professional/practitioner audiences do not meet this standard. Full-length scholarly papers in peer reviewed conference proceedings do meet this standard. Abstracts published in conference proceedings do not meet this standard. **
- Publication of a scholarly book, textbook, instructor’s manual that includes original works (e.g., beyond summaries of chapters, test questions, web links, etc.) or book chapter by a nationally recognized publisher.*
- Exhibition of creative work(s) in a juried show and/or receipt of an award after being judged by a jury of peers or presentation of creative works in an adjudicated or auditioned performance. Contribution should be noted in the faculty member’s narrative or in an annotation in his/her curriculum vita.
- Receipt of a sizable competitive grant from a recognized external entity that helps the faculty member create a product (e.g., paper, media production, etc.). No distinction will be made between participation as principle or co-principle investigator on the grant or those who make a significant contribution to the grant work.

In addition to meeting one of the above criteria, faculty must:

- Present a minimum of three peer-reviewed or invited presentations of the faculty member’s original work in a department approved professional meeting/conference. Exceptions: if the faculty member has published or has in publication a scholarly book or textbook, during the review period, no peer reviewed or invited presentations are required. Publication of a paper in a peer reviewed journal or exhibition of creative work(s) in a juried show or presentation of creative works in an adjudicated or auditioned performance may be substituted in a one-to-one ratio for presentations.
- Pursue advanced study/conference/workshop attendance to stay current in the field or learn new information/skills.

*Publications in predatory or vanity publications or by predatory or vanity presses or self-published works do not meet this standard. Lambert Academic Press (LAP), Green River Technologies, and One Voice International are examples of such publishers. A scholarly work will be evaluated on its merits with no distinction made between single or multiple authorship. Contribution should be noted in the faculty member’s narrative or in an annotation in his/her curriculum vita. Scholarly works accepted for publication, exhibition, or performance at the time of portfolio submission meet this standard.

Papers published in peer-reviewed conference proceedings and the accompanying peer-reviewed presentation can count in both the publication and the presentation category.

Glossary

Scholarly: concerned with academic learning and research.

Juried: having the contents selected for exhibition by a jury

Vanity press: a printing house that specializes in publishing books for which the authors pay all or most of the costs.

Peer review: evaluation of a person's work or performance by a group of people in the same occupation, profession, or industry.

Service

The College of Professional Studies is committed to service that supports students; that creates a climate that is respectful and supportive of diversity; and that supports the mission of the Department, the College of Professional Studies, and the University. Faculty is expected to engage in service on an ongoing basis throughout their career at Metro though the type and nature of the service may vary. CPS defines community service as unpaid work done at the local, state, national and/or international level which utilizes the faculty member's skills and expertise to create positive community change and/or that supports our students to achieve their educational and career goals.

From the latest edition of the Handbook for Professional Personnel,

Faculty engage in service when they participate in the shared governance and good functioning of the institution; service to the institution can be at the program, department, college, or university level. Beyond the institution, faculty engage in service when they use their disciplinary and/or professional expertise and talents to contribute to the betterment of their multiple environments, such as regional communities, professional and disciplinary associations, non-profit organizations, or government agencies.

FACULTY SHALL DEMONSTRATE EXCELLENCE IN SERVICE BY MEETING THE FOLLOWING SERVICE CRITERIA:

Additional criteria for Retention, Tenure and Promotion to Associate Professor Departmental Guidelines for Faculty Evaluation in Engineering and Engineering Technology can be found in Appendix C.

Demonstration of active involvement in some combination of all (breadth of service) of or intense focus (depth of service as measured by such factors as leadership, time spent, impact, and specific outcome, etc.; type and amount of intense service will be defined by the individual department) in the following service activities:

- Within the institution at the university, college, department or program level.
- Outside the institution in the community or profession.

Examples of service include committees, projects, advisory boards, playing a leadership role, program coordination, review of articles, and accreditation. All should be related to the goals of the University, College, Department, Profession or provide related expertise to the community.

Service

The College of Professional Studies is committed to service that supports students; that creates a climate that is respectful and supportive of diversity; and that supports the mission of the Department, the College of Professional Studies, and the University. Faculty are expected to engage in service on an ongoing basis throughout their career at Metro though the type and nature of the service may vary. CPS defines community service as unpaid work done at the local, state, national and/or international level which utilizes the faculty member's skills and expertise to create positive community change and/or that supports our students to achieve their educational and career goals.

From the latest edition of the Handbook for Professional Personnel,

Faculty engage in service when they participate in the shared governance and good functioning of the institution; service to the institution can be at the program, department, college, or university level. Beyond the institution, faculty engage in service when they use their disciplinary and/or professional expertise and talents to contribute to the betterment of their multiple environments, such as regional communities, professional and disciplinary associations, non-profit organizations, or government agencies.

FACULTY SHALL DEMONSTRATE EXCELLENCE IN SERVICE BY MEETING THE FOLLOWING SERVICE CRITERIA:

Additional criteria for Post-Tenure Review Departmental Guidelines for Faculty Evaluation in Engineering and Engineering Technology can be found in Appendix E.

Demonstration of active involvement in some combination of all (breadth of service) of or intense focus (depth of service as measured by such factors as leadership, time spent, impact, and specific outcome, etc.; type and amount of intense service will be defined by the individual department) in the following service activities:

- Within the institution at the university, college, department or program level.
- Outside the institution in the community or profession.

Examples of service include committees, projects, advisory boards, playing a leadership role, program coordination, review of articles, and accreditation. All should be related to the goals of the University, College, Department, Profession or provide related expertise to the community.

Category II Faculty Eligible for Reappointment, Multi- Year Contract, or Promotion to Senior Lecturer Evaluation Guidelines

Category II Departmental Guidelines for Faculty Evaluation for reappointment, multi-year contract, or promotion to Senior Lecturer

The following guidelines apply to Category II faculty and incorporate changes to the latest edition of the Handbook for Professional Personnel.

Category II Faculty must meet all contractual obligations, requirements, and responsibilities, and adhere to policies relating to employee and student conduct as put forth in the latest edition of the Handbook for Professional Personnel and have a record of conduct consistent with professional standards in Appendix B of this document, and show sustained growth in evaluation areas applicable to the candidate in consideration for reappointment, multi-year contract or promotion to Senior Lecturer.

The College of Professional Studies is committed to a holistic view of Category II faculty in terms of evaluating his/her performance as part of the big picture of the work and accomplishments of effective teaching. If applicable, Category II faculty shall demonstrate proficiency in the two other evaluation areas based on the guidelines.

Teaching

The College of Professional Studies values quality teaching with a focus on student learning that supports development of the knowledge and skills necessary to be an effective professional in the field. Successful reappointment, multi-year contract, or promotion requires faculty to continue professional growth and development. In the teaching area, this may include participating in activities such as faculty learning communities, peer observation cohorts, and/or workshops and conferences focused on teaching. Faculty members are encouraged to employ innovative and creative teaching methods and technology that stimulate learning through a multifaceted teaching and learning environment. Given the diverse nature of our student body, teaching and advising that supports student success and increases cultural awareness is highly valued.

Teaching is the act of creating and maintaining an environment which enhances the opportunities for student learning and discipline-related growth; it includes advising students to facilitate graduation and to transition to post-baccalaureate careers or further educational opportunities. From the latest edition of the Handbook for Professional Personnel,

Teaching is a complex and reflective human activity that, in the higher education context, is offered in a forum that is advanced, semi-public, and essentially critical in nature. No single definition can possibly suffice to cover the range of talents that go into excellent teaching or that could be found across the board in the varied departments and disciplines of an entire university. Good teachers are scholars, researchers, inventors, scientists, creators, artists, professionals, investigators, practitioners or those with advanced expertise or experience who share knowledge, using appropriate methodologies, and who demonstrate and encourage enthusiasm about the subject matter in such a way as to leave the student with a lasting and vivid conviction of having benefited from that interaction.

Effective teachers typically maintain high academic standards, prepare students for professional work and development, facilitate student achievement, and provide audiences for student work. Some might add that the best teaching transmits specific skills or enhances talents that students possess, while others would note that good teaching develops habits of mind or provides models of scholarly, scientific, artistic or professional behavior and inquiry much more important than particular information.

Faculty typically aspire to a number of other civic purposes in the classroom that may also include encouraging their students to long for the truth, to aspire to achievement, to emulate heroes, to become just, or to do good, for example. At the instructional level, the most important responsibilities of a teacher to his/her students are the following:

- 1) Content Expertise: To demonstrate knowledge and/or relevant experience. Effective teachers display knowledge of their subject matters in the relevant learning environment (classroom, on-line, hybrid, field work, etc.), which typically includes the skills, competencies, and knowledge in a specific subject area in which the faculty member has received advanced experience, training, or education.*
- 2) Instructional Design: To re-order and re-organize this knowledge/experience for student learning. Effective teachers design course objectives, syllabi, materials, activities, and experiences that are conducive to learning.*
- 3) Instructional Delivery: To communicate and "translate" this knowledge/experience into a format accessible to students. Effective teachers communicate information clearly, create environments conducive to learning, and use an appropriate variety of teaching methods.*
- 4) Instructional Assessment: To evaluate the mastery and other accomplishments of students. Effective teachers design assessment procedures appropriate to course objectives, ensure fairness in student evaluation and grading, and provide constructive feedback on student work.*
- 5) Advising In and Beyond the Classroom: To provide guidance for students as they pursue undergraduate and post-baccalaureate education and/or employment. Effective advisors interact with students to provide career guidance and information, degree program guidance and information (e.g., advice on an appropriate schedule to facilitate graduation), and answers to questions relating to a discipline.*

Criteria for Emeritus Status of Faculty

Criteria for Emeritus Status of Faculty

According to MSU Denver's Handbook for Professional Personnel, "All faculty who have completed ten years or more of full-time service at the University shall be eligible at the time of their retirement for an emeritus title equivalent to their highest professional rank. Faculty who participate in the transitional retirement program or who continue to teach full-time at the University after retirement are considered to be members of the faculty and therefore are not eligible for emeritus status" (pg. 40). A department chair or any faculty member of the department may nominate faculty for emeritus status. Nominations should be substantiated in terms of length of service, excellence in teaching, and other contributions to the University.

Once a person is nominated, the Department Chair will substantiate that the nominee has satisfied the requirements above. The nomination must then be endorsed by the majority of the tenured faculty members of the department and by the Dean of the College of Professional Studies, who then will forward the recommendation to the Provost. If the Provost agrees with the nomination, he or she will forward the nomination to the President of the University. If the President concurs, he or she will forward the nomination to the Board of Trustees for final approval.
