Four O'clock

Colorado Convention Center

May 18, 2004

Dear Member of the Spring 2004 Graduating Class:

Congratulations on the successful completion of your hard-earned baccalaureate degree. You should be proud of this significant accomplishment. You are now part of a top-notch group of 53,000 Metro State graduates who represent the college with true distinction.

Since Metro State first opened its doors in 1965, it has become our state's "College of Opportunity," fulfilling the educational needs of Coloradoans who live in the Front Range. Metro has grown to become one of the largest, public, four-year colleges in the United States and the third largest higher education institution in Colorado. We consider the achievements of our graduates and their many contributions to their respective communities as a hallmark of Metro State's excellence and effectiveness as a higher education leader. We take great pride in your success.

Today we celebrate this landmark occasion with you, your family and friends. Your professors and the staff members who have helped you along the way join in celebrating the conclusion of your hard work and dedication, and in marking the commencement of your exciting, new future. Although you are leaving Metro State, we hope that you will become active in the Metro State Alumni Association and help shape the futures of students to come.

My best to you in your future endeavors. Use what you have learned to improve organizations, grow new enterprises and enhance your community.

Sincerely,

Commencement Speaker

Bill Owens

Fortieth Governor of Colorado

Bill Owens was sworn in as Colorado's 40th governor in January 1999 and was re-elected in 2002 with the greatest majority in Colorado history. Recently, he was named one of the major emerging leaders in American politics by The Economist magazine and was identified as one of the country's top ten rising political stars by syndicated columnist Robert Novak.

Governor Owens pushed through the largest tax-relief package in state history, amounting to $1 billion in cuts in the rates of sales, personal income and capital gains taxes and eliminating the marriage penalty. His policies of low taxes and restrained government spending were cited as an example for other states in a lead editorial in The Wall Street Journal.

Keeping his promise to institute sweeping school reform in Colorado, Governor Owens created an educational accountability system — including detailed, online school report cards — that has been praised as among the best in the nation. Keeping his commitment to transform Colorado's transportation system,

Governor Owens pushed for and signed into law the largest ever state commitment to transportation, which will invest $15 billion over the next two decades. He has accelerated road and mass-transit projects that would have taken half a century to complete — projects that now will be done in ten years.

Prior to his election as governor, Owens served in Colorado's House and Senate and was the state treasurer. He authored landmark legislation creating charter schools, toughening prison sentences, modernizing child-abuse statutes and reforming the tort system. He was a leading advocate of the Colorado Taxpayers' Bill of Rights (TABOR amendment), which caps government spending and requires that excess funds be returned to state taxpayers.

Governor Owens holds a master's degree in public administration from the University of Texas. He is an expert on Soviet affairs and writes and lectures often on Russia.

Metro State at a Glance

Established in 1965 as Colorado's "College of Opportunity," Metropolitan State College of Denver is the third largest higher education institution in Colorado and one of the largest, public, four-year colleges in the United States. Adjacent to the financial and artistic heart of downtown Denver, Metro State and its students reflect the city's rich mixture of ethnicity, economic background, age and culture. The college's accessibility is made possible through its modified open-enrollment policy, affordable tuition and financial aid awards. Each semester, more than 20,000 students enroll at the college, and more than 265,000 individuals have taken classes at Metro State.

Metro State's mission is to provide students with a high-quality education that prepares them for rewarding careers, postgraduate education and lifelong learning in a multicultural, global and technological society. In the past few years the college has garnered national attention for its programs. U.S. News & World Report's America's Best Colleges 2003 edition ranks Metro among the Top Public Comprehensive Baccalaureate Colleges in the Western United States.

Metro also has been recognized by the Kaplan/Newsweek College Catalog as one of the nation's leading schools in offering students the best quality of education for their tuition dollar, as voted by high school guidance counselors.

More than 80 percent of Metro State's 53,000 graduates remain in Colorado to live and work. They are our teachers, accountants, pilots, law enforcement officials, social workers, nurses and high-tech employees. They are in the hospitality industry, run businesses, labor in the not-for-profit world and are elected officials at the local and state levels. In a recent survey of Metro State graduates, 95 percent said they were satisfied or very satisfied with their college experience. Nine out of 10 employers who have hired Metro State graduates say they would do so again.

Over the last 39 years, Metro State has celebrated many successes in the areas of academic excellence, diversity and workforce development. As one of the foremost urban undergraduate institutions in the country, Metro State is committed to providing higher education opportunities to Colorado and its many communities.

Academic Attire

Academic attire is modeled after monks' clothing from the Middle Ages, when college faculty and students were members of religious orders. In England, the faculty of many colleges and universities still wear gowns, hoods and caps in the classroom.

In the early 20th century, colleges and universities throughout the world adopted guidelines for the design and colors of academic attire. An institution may design and register special attire for its administrators and graduates, but it must conform to certain standards. Once registered, the design/color combination may not be duplicated by other institutions.

The bachelor's gown is most often black and has long sleeves that taper to a point in the back. It is always worn closed. At Metro State, women do not wear a white collar with the gown. The hood worn by the President's Award recipient is a Metropolitan State College of Denver bachelor's degree hood and is worn by this student to represent the graduating class.

The gown signifying the master's degree is also usually black and may be worn open or closed. It features oblong sleeves that hang below the wrist, tapering to a square cut with a cutaway arc.

Although usually black, the doctoral gown is sometimes seen in colors—usually gold, purple, blue or red. The gown may be worn open or closed. The opening of the gown is faced with velvet and three velvet chevrons run across its bell-shaped sleeves. The velvet facing and chevrons may be black or the color representing the field of study.

The hood varies in length and shape according to the degree it represents—the shortest and smallest signifies the bachelor's degree and the longest and widest signifies the doctoral degree. The velvet bordering the hood represents the degree field of study. The colors most frequently seen at Metro State are royal blue – Philosophy; light blue – Education; yellow – Science; green – Medicine. The satin lining of the hood, each a specific design, represents the college or university at which the individual earned his or her degree.

The Oxford Cap, or mortarboard, as it is better known, completes the attire. In place of the hood, bachelor's candidates at Metro State wear colored tassels on the Oxford Cap to represent the academic department of the college from which they earned their degrees. Those holding graduate degrees usually wear black tassels, but those holding doctoral degrees may wear tassels of gold thread, and may elect to wear a four-sided or eight-sided velvet tam instead of the Oxford Cap. Some universities have designated the Cambridge Cap, a large, soft beret, for their administrators and those who have earned a doctoral degree at that institution.

Insignias worn by honor graduates and members of honor societies

You will notice that some of our graduates are wearing one or more cords, stoles, or medallions of various colors or designs about the neck of their gowns. These represent high academic achievement. For those students achieving overall excellence, the college recognizes three areas of distinction:

Summa Cum Laude (with highest praise)

Gold and blue cord

Magna Cum Laude (with great praise)

Silver and blue cord

Cum Laude (with praise)

Bronze and blue cord

Honors Program

The college encourages students to enroll in and complete an especially rigorous course of interdisciplinary study in addition to the individual's major and minor study degree requirements. This course of study is known as the Honors Program.
