May 15, 2005

Dear Member of the Spring 2005 Graduating Class:

Congratulations on the completion of your hard-earned baccalaureate degree from Metropolitan State College of Denver. You and your family should be proud of this most-significant achievement. You are now part of a top-notch group of 55,000 Metro State graduates who represent the college with distinction. I invite you to stay connected with Metro State through the Alumni Association and be a catalyst for the future of this institution.

It has been an honor and a pleasure to serve the college and its students for the past two years. With each passing week, I became more impressed by the tenacity, energy and intelligence of Metro State students. You are the epitome of multi-tasking.

During my time here, which I truly have cherished, I have grown to appreciate the high caliber of students and faculty, who individually and together are putting Metro State on the national map. Among this year's achievements are:

- The $9.5 million Teacher Quality Enhancement grant, the largest federal grant in the college's history, identifies Metro as Colorado's premier teacher-preparation institution.
- The women's soccer team is the NCAA Division II national champions and two student-athletes are national players of the year: Mark Worthington for basketball and Ymara Guante for soccer.
- The African American Leadership Institute has been reinstated and will once again work with some of our community's finest young leaders.
- The Electrical Engineering Technology Department became the only program in Colorado chosen by the FAA as a collegiate training facility.
- Metro State is one of only ten institutions in the country to receive funding for the Adventure of the American Mind program, which trains K-12 teachers to access the Library of Congress archives.
- The African American Studies and Chicano Studies majors have been approved for teacher education licensure.

These accomplishments are among many at Metro State, and I know that each of you has your own personal story of achievement. I trust that your years at Metro have opened your eyes, challenged your mind and given you the confidence to follow your heart. I commend you for your hard work, and wish you great success in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Commencement Speaker

Ken Salazar

United States Senator

United States Senator Ken Salazar was elected in November 2004 as Colorado's 35th United States Senator after serving six years as Colorado Attorney General.

The 50-year-old Salazar is a fifth-generation Coloradan and is one of eight brothers and sisters. He and his family have been farmers and ranchers in the San Luis Valley since before Colorado was a state.

Salazar earned a political science degree from Colorado College in 1977 and a law degree in 1981 from the University of Michigan. He also holds honorary doctorates of law from Colorado College (1993) and the University of Denver (1999).

For much of his life, Salazar has been a farmer and rancher in the San Luis Valley, a natural resources lawyer and a small-business owner. He and his wife Hope, a 1975 graduate of Metro State, have owned radio stations in Pueblo and Denver and currently own and operate a Dairy Queen in Westminster.

In addition to his stint as Attorney General, Salazar's service to Colorado includes chief legal counsel to the Governor, executive director of the Department of Natural Resources and chairman of the Rio Grande Compact Commission. He has also practiced water, environmental and public lands law for eleven years in the private sector.

As executive director of the Department of Natural Resources, Salazar crafted reforms for mining and oil and gas operations to provide greater public and environmental protections. He also co-authored the constitutional amendment creating Great Outdoors Colorado (GOCO), led the successful campaign for its passage and served as the first chairperson of GOCO's board.

When Salazar was Colorado's 36th Attorney General, he developed nationally recognized programs to address youth and school violence, strengthened Colorado's consumer protection laws and combated fraud against the elderly.

Salazar has served on many boards and commissions including the Board of Trustees of Colorado College, the American Farmland Trust President's Council, the Colorado Water Conservation Board, the Peace Officers Standards and Training Board (Chair) and selection committees for United States Attorney and Federal District Court judges.

Salazar currently serves on the Senate Committees on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry, Energy and Natural Resources and Veterans Affairs.

The Salazar family includes two teenage daughters, Melinda and Andrea. Salazar's older brother John was elected to the United States Congress in November 2004 from Colorado's 3rd Congressional District.

Metro State at a Glance

Metropolitan State College of Denver, established in 1965 as Colorado's "College of Opportunity," is the third largest higher-education institution in Colorado and one of the largest, public, four-year colleges in the United States. Adjacent to the financial and artistic heart of downtown Denver, Metro State and its students reflect the city's rich mixture of ethnicity, economic background, age and culture. The college's accessibility is made possible through its modified open-enrollment policy, affordable tuition and financial aid awards. Each semester, more than 20,000 students enroll at the college, and more than 265,000 individuals have taken classes at Metro State.

Metro State's mission is to provide students with a high-quality education that prepares them for rewarding careers, postgraduate education and lifelong learning in a multicultural, global and technological society. In the past few years the college has garnered national attention for its programs. U.S. News & World Report's America's Best Colleges 2004 edition ranks Metro among the Top Public Comprehensive Baccalaureate Colleges in the Western United States. Metro also has been recognized by the Kaplan/Newsweek College Catalog as one of the nation's leading schools in offering students the best quality of education for their tuition dollar, as voted by high school guidance counselors.

More than 90 percent of Metro State's 55,000 graduates remain in Colorado to live and work. They are our teachers, accountants, pilots, law enforcement officials, social workers, nurses and high-tech employees. They are in the hospitality industry, run businesses, labor in the not-for-profit world and are elected officials at the local and state levels. In a recent survey of Metro State graduates, 95 percent said they were satisfied or very satisfied with their college experience. Nine out of 10 employers who have hired Metro State graduates say they would do so again.

Over the last 39 years, Metro State has celebrated many successes in the areas of academic excellence, diversity and workforce development. As one of the foremost urban undergraduate institutions in the country, Metro State is committed to providing higher-education opportunities to Colorado and its many communities.

Academic Attire

Academic attire is modeled after monks' clothing from the Middle Ages, when college faculty and students were members of religious orders. In England, the faculty of many colleges and universities still wear gowns, hoods and caps in the classroom.

In the early 20th century, colleges and universities throughout the world adopted guidelines for the design and colors of academic attire. An institution may design and register special attire for its administrators and graduates, but it must conform to certain standards. Once registered, the design/color combination may not be duplicated by other institutions.

The bachelor's gown is most often black and has long sleeves that taper to a point in the back. It is always worn closed. At Metro State, women do not wear a white collar with the gown. The hood worn by the President's Award recipient is a Metropolitan State College of Denver bachelor's degree hood and is worn by this student to represent the graduating class.

The gown signifying the master's degree is also usually black and may be worn open or closed. It features oblong sleeves that hang below the wrist, tapering to a square cut with a cutaway arc.

Although usually black, the doctoral gown is sometimes seen in colors—usually gold, purple, blue or red. The gown may be worn open or closed. The opening of the gown is faced with velvet and three velvet chevrons run across its bell-shaped sleeves. The velvet facing and chevrons may be black or the color representing the field of study.

The hood varies in length and shape according to the degree it represents—the shortest and smallest signifies the bachelor's degree and the longest and widest signifies the doctoral degree. The velvet bordering the hood represents the degree field of study. The colors most frequently seen at Metro State are royal blue – Philosophy; light blue – Education; yellow – Science; green – Medicine. The satin lining of the hood, each a specific design, represents the college or university at which the individual earned his or her degree.

The Oxford Cap, or mortarboard as it is better known, completes the attire. In place of the hood, bachelor's candidates at Metro State wear colored tassels on the Oxford Cap to represent the academic department of the college from which they earned their degrees. Those holding graduate degrees usually wear black tassels, but those holding doctoral degrees may wear tassels of gold thread, and may elect to wear a four-sided or eight-sided velvet tam instead of the Oxford Cap. Some universities have designated the Cambridge Cap, a large, soft beret, for their administrators and those who have earned a doctoral degree at that institution.

Insignias worn by honor graduates and members of honor societies

You will notice that some of our graduates are wearing one or more cords, stoles or medallions of various colors or designs about the neck of their gowns to represent high academic achievement. Those graduates who have achieved overall excellence are recognized by the college through three areas of distinction:

Summa Cum Laude (with highest praise)

Gold and blue cord

Magna Cum Laude (with great praise)

Silver and blue cord

Cum Laude (with praise)

Bronze and blue cord

Honors Program

The college encourages students to enroll in and complete an especially rigorous course of interdisciplinary study in addition to the individual's major and minor study degree requirements. This course of study is known as the Honors Program.
