Dear member of the Fall and Summer 2006 graduating classes:

Congratulations on the successful completion of your hard-earned baccalaureate degree from Metropolitan State College of Denver. This is a significant achievement of which you and your family should be justifiably proud.

Just as you now have a solid foundation on which to build a career or broaden your education in graduate school, Metro State has secured a strong heritage of educational opportunity and excellence that will serve the Colorado community into the future as we strive to become the nation's preeminent public urban baccalaureate college.

As a graduate of Metro State, you are now a part of that heritage, which includes more than 59,000 alumni, all of whom through their tenacity, energy and intelligence are helping put Metro State on the map. Here are but a few examples of their achievements:

- Katherine Archuleta, a 1971 graduate, is the chief operating officer for the City and County of Denver. She has also served as chief of staff in the U.S. Department of Transportation.
- Donnie L. Betts, a 1987 speech communication graduate, is an Emmy-nominated filmmaker whose latest documentary, "Music Is My Life, Politics My Mistress," about Oscar Brown, Jr., has been screened at film festivals internationally.
- Joe Rice (1989, history) has been elected to the Colorado State House of Representatives, where he will join two other Metro State alumni, Sen. Dorothy Tochtrop (1988, nursing and health care management) and Rep. Jerry Frangas (1998, social work) in helping direct Colorado's future.
- Natalie Lutes (1991, finance) is vice president for administration and finance at Metro State.

Your degree from Metro State symbolizes the knowledge, experiences and skills you have attained that make you ready and qualified to accept the challenge of engaging as citizens in a culturally diverse society, much as the people highlighted above have done. We eagerly anticipate your accomplishments, both large and small, and your continuing attachment to the Metro State community, which promises you a very warm welcome whenever you return.

Please keep in touch with your alma mater.

Sincerely,

Stephen M. Jordan, Ph.D.
President, Metropolitan State College of Denver

Michael F. Bennet: Superintendent, Denver Public Schools

Michael F. Bennet has been superintendent of Denver Public Schools since July 2005. At the time of his appointment, Denver Mayor John Hickenlooper said Bennet was a “wonderful choice” and represented a “very positive day for Denver Public Schools and the city of Denver.”

Bennet has already accomplished much during his 18 months as superintendent, including writing the Denver Plan, a living document that outlines the district’s vision and goals and which went through a meticulous community input process. Bennet has also reorganized administration of the district, revised high school graduation requirements to make them more rigorous, secured a $1 million Teaching American History grant, reorganized the English Language Acquisition Department, adopted a common music and arts curriculum for elementary schools, and begun to close the district’s $16 million budget gap.

Bennett’s commitment to urban education and bridging the gap between secondary and higher education in Colorado is evident. Last month he unveiled a newly formed, privately funded scholarship fund to cover unmet college costs for Denver Public School graduates to attend post-secondary institutions in Colorado. In addition, Bennet announced his intent to use a recently announced $22 million grant from the U.S. Department of Education to reward effective teaching in high-need, disadvantaged urban schools.

Prior to his superintendency, Bennet served for two years as chief of staff to Mayor Hickenlooper. In addition to his service in Denver’s public sector, Bennet worked for six years as managing director for the Anschutz Investment Company.

A former Coro Foundation Public Affairs Fellow, Bennet started his career in government as personal assistant to the Ohio Governor and later as a law clerk with the U.S. Court of Appeals 4th Circuit. Following a brief stint at a Washington law firm, Bennet returned to the public sector as counsel to the deputy attorney general in the Clinton Administration.

Bennet earned his bachelor’s degree in history with honors from Wesleyan University and his law degree from Yale Law School, where he was the editor-in-chief of “The Yale Law Journal.”

Metro State: A Bold Goal of Preeminence

Established in 1965, Metropolitan State College of Denver enrolls more than 21,000 students, the second largest undergraduate student population in Colorado. Last year, Metro State set the ambitious long-term goal of becoming the preeminent public urban baccalaureate college in the nation, toward which it already has made significant progress.

As a teaching institution, the College is steadfast in its mission is to provide students from all walks of life with a high-quality education that prepares them for rewarding careers, postgraduate education and lifelong learning in a multicultural, global and technological society. With a commitment to diversity as a core value, Metro State is proud that the College has the largest ethnic minority population of all Colorado's four-year institutions.

Metro State empowers students to create their own success by providing relevant, academic excellence through its unique attributes, including outstanding, committed faculty with a passion for teaching; student-centered learning; a personalized classroom experience with more student/faculty interaction; and real-world, 21st century career preparation through a blend of theory and applied learning.

The College boasts accomplished professors who are known nationally in their respective fields, including Deborah Leong, a world-renowned early childhood educator recognized by the United Nations for her innovative Tools of the Mind program; Jeff Price, an aviation security expert who is the lead security trainer to airports throughout the country, and Nancy Rich, a nationally recognized expert in emergency mental health who went to Louisiana after Hurricane Katrina to teach disaster/crisis intervention to the counseling staff and faculty at two major universities.

Metro State students are making a name for themselves as well. This year, photojournalist Matthew Jonas won the national award for General News Photography from the National Society of Professional Journalists. Goalkeeper Rachel Zollner of the College's national champion women's soccer team has been named to the ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America women's soccer first team. She is one of only 12 players to earn this honor in the college division.

Our students are routinely selected for nationally competitive study-abroad scholarships and win regional awards in myriad academic areas such as theatre, piloting and accounting. And Roadrunner athletic teams have won national NCAA Division II championships, including the women's soccer team in 2004 and 2006 and the men's basketball teams in 2000 and 2002.

The Class of 2006 joins the ranks of 59,000 proud Metro State alumni, more than 90 percent of whom remain in Colorado to live and work as our teachers, nurses, accountants, pilots, law enforcement officials, social workers and high-tech employees. They are in the hospitality industry, run businesses, labor in the not-for-profit world and serve in government at the local and state levels.

Metro State graduates are achieving their dreams. Jerry DiTullio ('87) is mayor of Wheat Ridge and Laura Jane Richardson ('86) is set to become the first female commander of Ft. Myers this July. Lori Lynn Nevarez ('86) was named the U.S. Small Business Administration's 2005 National Minority Small Business Person of the Year for her Littleton-based environmental consulting firm, Innovar, and Bill Pickle ('75) is the U.S. Senate Sergeant-at-Arms.

The accomplishments of our students and graduates, the better lives that education brings them, are a great source of pride for Metro State and are an integral part of the foundation on which we are building a national reputation for preeminence.

Academic Attire

Academic attire is modeled after monks' clothing from the Middle Ages, when college faculty and students were members of religious orders. In England, the faculty of many colleges and universities still wear gowns, hoods and caps in the classroom.

In the early 20th century, colleges and universities throughout the world adopted guidelines for the design and colors of academic attire. An institution may design and register special attire for its administrators and graduates, but it must conform to certain standards. Once registered, the design/color combination may not be duplicated by other institutions.

The bachelor's gown is most often black and has long sleeves that taper to a point in the back. It is always worn closed. At Metro State, women do not wear a white collar with the gown. The hood worn by the President's Award recipient is a Metropolitan State College of Denver bachelor's degree hood and is worn by this student to represent the graduating class.

The gown signifying the master's degree is also usually black and may be worn open or closed. It features oblong sleeves that hang below the wrist, tapering to a square cut with a cutaway arc.

Although usually black, the doctoral gown is sometimes seen in colors—usually gold, purple, blue or red. The gown may be worn open or closed. The opening of the gown is faced with velvet and three velvet chevrons run across its bell-shaped sleeves. The velvet facing and chevrons may be black or the color representing the field of study.

The hood varies in length and shape according to the degree it represents—the shortest and smallest signifies the bachelor's degree and the longest and widest signifies the doctoral degree. The velvet bordering the hood represents the degree field of study. The colors most frequently seen at Metro State are royal blue – Philosophy; light blue – Education; yellow – Science; green – Medicine.

The satin lining of the hood, each a specific design, represents the college or university at which the individual earned his or her degree.

The Oxford Cap, or mortarboard as it is better known, completes the attire. In place of the hood, bachelor's candidates at Metro State wear colored tassels on the Oxford Cap to represent the academic department of the College from which they earned their degrees. Those holding graduate degrees usually wear black tassels, but those holding doctoral degrees may wear tassels of gold thread, and may elect to wear a four-sided or eight-sided velvet tam instead of the Oxford Cap. Some universities have designated the Cambridge Cap, a large, soft beret, for their administrators and those who have earned a doctoral degree at that institution.

Insignias worn by honor graduates and members of honor societies

You will notice that some of our graduates are wearing one or more cords, stoles or medallions of various colors or designs about the neck of their gowns to represent high academic achievement. Those graduates who have achieved overall excellence are recognized by the College through three areas of distinction:

- Summa Cum Laude* (with highest praise)
Gold and blue cord
- Magna Cum Laude* (with great praise)
Silver and blue cord
- Cum Laude* (with praise)
Bronze and blue cord

Honors Program

The College encourages students to enroll in and complete an especially rigorous course of interdisciplinary study in addition to the individual's major and minor study degree requirements. This course of study is known as the Honors Program.
