Dear member of the Summer or Fall 2010 graduating class:

Congratulations on the successful completion of your hard-earned baccalaureate degree from Metropolitan State College of Denver. This is a significant achievement, of which you and your family can be justifiably proud.

Just as you now have a solid foundation on which to build a career or broaden your education in graduate school, Metro State has secured a strong heritage of academic excellence that will serve the Colorado community into the future. In this, its 45th anniversary year, the College is progressing with initiatives that will enhance the value of your degree. We now offer master's degrees in accounting, teacher education and social work—and encourage you to consider enrolling if you choose to pursue graduate work. The College is making progress toward its goal of increasing Latino enrollment, going from 13 percent in 2007 to nearly 16 percent today. We have also made significant progress this year on our physical infrastructure: the Center for Visual Art re-opened in June in its new home in the Santa Fe Art District, the state-of-the-art Science Building opened in August, and we have just this month broken ground on the Student Success Building on campus. That building, along with the Hotel and Hospitality Learning Center, will give visibility to Metro State's unique identity on the Auraria Campus.

As one of 1,600 freshly minted Metro State graduates, you are now a part of our heritage, which includes more than 69,000 alumni, all of whom through their tenacity, energy and intelligence are having a significant impact on their community. Here are but a few examples of their achievements:

- Shane Kelley ('01, computer information systems), director of the Center for Automation in the Denver region of the Social Security Administration, received the national Service to America Citizen Services Medal in September for improving the delivery of social security benefits to remote and impoverished citizens.
- Katherine Archuleta ('71, elementary education) recently left her position as senior advisor to Denver Mayor John Hickenlooper to become chief of staff to U.S. Labor Secretary Hilda Solis.
- Lisa Moder ('90, electrical engineering technology) received the 2010 Test Engineer of the Year award by Test & Measurement World magazine in April.
- Piper Billups ('99, marketing) founded the Spread Her Wings Foundation in 2009 to assist middle school girls in becoming strong, independent young women.
- Cesar Cedillo ('96, history and teacher education licensure) is the principal of Bruce Randolph School, a Denver public school serving students in grades 6-12.

Your degree from Metro State symbolizes the knowledge, experiences and skills you have attained that make you ready and qualified to accept the challenge of engaging as a citizen in a culturally diverse society, much as the people highlighted above have done. We eagerly anticipate your accomplishments, both large and small, and your continuing engagement with the Metro State community, which promises you a very warm welcome whenever you return.

Please do keep in touch.

Sincerely,

Stephen M. Jordan, Ph.D.
President, Metropolitan State College of Denver

Commencement Speaker Lieutenant Governor-Elect Joseph A. Garcia

Joseph “Joe” Garcia has been a leader in Colorado for decades. With a career that has spanned the areas of law, higher education, housing as well as state and federal government, Garcia’s public service has been extensive. As Gov.-elect John Hickenlooper said of Garcia earlier this year, “Joe doesn’t just love Colorado—he lives Colorado.”

When he assumes the position of lieutenant governor in January, Garcia will be the first Latino to hold the position. Gov.-elect Hickenlooper has named Garcia to co-chair his transition team, called Partners for Colorado.

As president of Colorado State University-Pueblo from 2006 until November 2010, Garcia oversaw enrollment growth and sustained retention rates, while maintaining fiscal responsibility within the College’s budget. He worked with local groups to expand men’s and women’s sports offerings, including bringing back a football program that had been abandoned decades earlier. He also began CSU-Pueblo’s transformation to a residential campus, from its long history as a commuter campus.

As president of Pikes Peak Community College—the second largest community college in the state—from 2001 to 2006, Garcia oversaw three campuses that serve more than 16,000 students annually.

Garcia was appointed by then-President Bill Clinton to serve as Rocky Mountain State representative for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in 1999. Prior to that, he had served in Gov. Roy Romer’s cabinet as executive director of the Colorado Department of Regulatory Agencies for six years. In this capacity, he managed and maintained budgetary responsibility for such Colorado divisions as Banking, Financial Services, Real Estate, Insurance, Civil Rights and the Public Utilities Commission.

Garcia was a partner in the Colorado Springs office of the Denver-based law firm Holme Roberts & Owen, and has lectured in classrooms at Colorado College, University of Colorado-Colorado Springs, Pikes Peak Community College, CU Denver, and CSU-Pueblo.

He has served on numerous boards and commissions: as chair of the board of directors of the Colorado Housing and Finance Authority, co-chair of Gov. Bill Ritter’s P20 Education Coordinating Council, vice chair of the Western Interstate Commission on Higher Education, a member of the board of trustees for the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, and a member of the Governmental Affairs Committee for the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities, among others.

Over the years, Garcia has received numerous awards, including being recognized twice as Hispanic Business Magazine’s “Hispanic Legal Elite” and as Colorado Community College’s State Student Advisory Council’s “President of the Year.” In addition, Colorado Springs National Association for the Advancement of Colored People named him “Outstanding Administrator in Higher Education” in 2004 and the Hispanic Chamber of Commerce named him Community Leader of the Year.

He obtained his law degree from Harvard Law School and his bachelor’s degree in business from the University of Colorado-Boulder.

Metro State: On the Road to Preeminence

Established in 1965, Metropolitan State College of Denver enrolls more than 24,000 students, with more in-state undergraduates than any other institution in Colorado. In 2005, Metro State set the ambitious long-term goal of becoming the preeminent public urban baccalaureate college in the nation, toward which it has made significant progress in myriad ways such as adding master's degrees to its offerings and being named a model Emerging Hispanic Serving Institution.

Metro State is steadfast in its mission to provide students from all walks of life with a high-quality education that prepares them for rewarding careers, postgraduate education and lifelong learning in a multicultural, global and technological society. With diversity as a core value, Metro State is proud to enroll more students of color than all other four-year institutions in Colorado.

The individualized and relevant education the College provides encompasses high-quality academics, an unsurpassed faculty and a unique urban experience rich with diversity, degree choices and community impact. These attributes make Metro State Colorado's best value in higher education.

The College boasts accomplished professors who are known nationally in their fields. Visiting Assistant Professor of Marketing Darrin Duber-Smith, for instance, was one of only 10 professors nationally to be named a Wall Street Journal In-Education Distinguished Professor. And Communication Design Professor Lisa Abendroth is a leader of SEED (Social Economic Environmental Design), a national group working to ensure the socially responsible development of architecture and design projects.

Metro State students are making a name for themselves as well. Senior Steven-Jon Billings was a semi-finalist in the National Trumpet Competition this March at George Mason University. Junior English literature major Sebastian Doherty is one of only 10 students in the country accepted into the Bucknell (University) Seminar for Younger Poets, a highly acclaimed and exclusive workshop for promising poets. Stephanie Mucha has received a prestigious Gilman Scholarship to study in Italy this summer. And volleyball player Anna Mapes received this year's Comeback Award from Sportswomen of Colorado at the organization's 36th annual awards dinner.

With the addition of the 1,600 members of the Class of 2010, there are now more than 69,000 proud Metro State alumni, the vast majority of whom remain in Colorado to live and work as our teachers, nurses, accountants, pilots, law enforcement officials, social workers and high-tech employees. Metro State graduates run businesses, contribute in the nonprofit sector and serve in government at the local and state levels. And, they are achieving their dreams. For instance, psychology graduate Col. Laura Jane Richardson is the first female commander of Ft. Myer in Arlington, Va., and Dr. Omar Hurricane, a physicist at Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, won the 2009 Lawrence Award for National Security and Nonproliferation. Dave Zur, marketing and media communications, is senior vice president of operations and engineering at Altitude Sports and Entertainment. Criminalistics graduate Emma Hall was just elected Boulder County coroner.

The accomplishments of our students and graduates, and the better lives that education brings them, are a great source of pride for Metro State and are an integral part of the foundation on which we are building a national reputation for preeminence.

Academic Attire

Academic attire is modeled after monks' clothing from the Middle Ages, when college faculty and students were members of religious orders. In England, the faculty of many colleges and universities still wear gowns, hoods and caps in the classroom.

In the early 20th century, colleges and universities throughout the world adopted guidelines for the design and colors of academic attire. An institution may design and register special attire for its administrators and graduates, but it must conform to certain standards. Once registered, the design/color combination may not be duplicated by other institutions.

The bachelor's gown is most often black and has long sleeves that taper to a point in the back. It is always worn closed. At Metro State, women do not wear a white collar with the gown. The hood worn by the President's Award recipient is a Metropolitan State College of Denver bachelor's degree hood and is worn by this student to represent the graduating class.

The gown signifying the master's degree is also usually black and may be worn open or closed. It features oblong sleeves that hang below the wrist, tapering to a square cut with a cutaway arc.

Although usually black, the doctoral gown is sometimes seen in colors—usually gold, purple, blue or red. The gown may be worn open or closed. The opening of the gown is faced with velvet and three velvet chevrons run across its bell-shaped sleeves. The velvet facing and chevrons may be black or the color representing the field of study.

The hood varies in length and shape according to the degree it represents—the shortest and smallest signifies the bachelor's degree and the longest and widest signifies the doctoral degree. The velvet bordering the hood represents the degree field of study. The colors most frequently seen at Metro State are royal blue – Philosophy; light blue – Education; yellow – Science; green – Medicine.

The satin lining of the hood, each a specific design, represents the college or university at which the individual earned his or her degree.

The Oxford Cap, or mortarboard as it is better known, completes the attire. In place of the hood, bachelor's candidates at Metro State wear colored tassels on the Oxford Cap to represent the academic department of the College from which they earned their degrees. Those holding graduate degrees usually wear black tassels, but those holding doctoral degrees may wear tassels of gold thread, and may elect to wear a four-sided or eight-sided velvet tam instead of the Oxford Cap. Some universities have designated the Cambridge Cap, a large, soft beret, for their administrators and those who have earned a doctoral degree at that institution.

Academic Distinction

You will notice that some of our graduates are wearing one or more cords, stoles or medallions of various colors or designs about the neck of their gowns to represent high academic achievement. Those graduates who have achieved overall excellence are recognized by the College through three areas of distinction:

Summa Cum Laude (with highest praise)

Gold and blue cord

Magna Cum Laude (with great praise)

Silver and blue cord

Cum Laude (with praise)

Bronze and blue cord

The College encourages students to enroll in and complete an especially rigorous course of interdisciplinary study in addition to the individual's major and minor study degree requirements. This course of study is known as the Honors Program.
