DEAR 2013 SPRING GRADUATION CANDIDATES:

Congratulations Metropolitan State University of Denver graduates!

Once you walk across that stage, you will be forever transformed. From here on out you are a university graduate. Nothing can ever change that.

As many of you know, MSU Denver experienced a graduation of its own last year. After 47 years as Metropolitan State College of Denver, we became a university.

Aligning our name with our reality was more than a semantic exercise: By becoming a university, we have erased all doubts about our identity and increased the value of your degree in the minds of the public and employers. When you receive your diploma, it will read "Metropolitan State University of Denver." You can rest assured that your degree will reflect the rigor and relevancy of your MSU Denver education.

In fact, a new study from College Measures/Colorado Department of Higher Education shows that MSU Denver graduates make more money during their first year of work than graduates from many other Colorado schools.

Through relevant learning and professional experiences, your MSU Denver education has uniquely positioned you to meet the complex challenges of the 21st century, while also equipping you to contribute to the workforce, the education of your family and the health of our community.

That's the power of education: Whether you start a business, accept a promotion, begin a new career or pursue further studies, your MSU Denver education will touch others—through the creation of jobs, your greater efficacy, and your additional skills and wisdom. The education you've worked so hard for belongs to you and to everyone you influence and inspire.

This ceremony marks the beginning of your next chapter. Use the goodwill of this day to fulfill the promise of your MSU Denver degree by employing the persistence, work ethic and determination that earned you this diploma. Spread the word about the value of higher education as you see its rewards unfold in your life. And stay in touch with your scrappy, forward-thinking alma mater.

Once a Roadrunner, always a Roadrunner!

Wishing you the best of luck,

Stephen M. Jordan, Ph.D.
President, Metropolitan State University of Denver

PRESIDENT'S AWARD RECIPIENT:

Marc L. Herschberger

Bachelor of Science – Business Marketing
Bachelor of Science – Business Management

Marc Herschberger is a summa cum laude graduate (GPA 3.92), the Outstanding Student for the School of Business, and a recipient of both the MSU Denver President's Scholarship and the American Wholesale Marketers Association Ray Foley Memorial Scholarship.

He's also one of the best soccer players ever to come through the MSU Denver Athletics Program. During his four years, Herschberger helped take the team to the top 25 and qualify for the NCAA Division II National Tournament; this year he served as captain. He was named the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference Academic Player of the Year in 2011 and 2012 and the Capital One First Team Academic All American of the Year for 2012, meaning that out of about 5,000 students who play Division II men's soccer, Herschberger was chosen as the top student and top athlete.

"Marc is the role model for all students," says Joan McDermott, director of athletics. "He is one of the most special student-athletes to ever be a part of MSU Denver."

A four-year member of the Athletic Director's Honor Roll, Herschberger also served as fundraising coordinator for the Student Athlete Advisory Committee, helping raise money for the Make-a-Wish Foundation and local food and clothing banks. He also volunteered at the National Wheelchair Basketball Association tournament, helped a local financial services company clean up highway trash and debris on South Santa Fe Drive, and volunteered for Ronald McDonald House and Habitat for Humanity.

This year Herschberger interned at Revenue River Marketing LLC in Littleton and worked part time at a retail soccer store in Westminster. How did he manage all these commitments?

"It comes down to the work ethic that my parents burned into me as a young kid," Herschberger says, explaining that his truck-driver father and paralegal mother have worked hard all their lives. "They would always make sure I spent time doing homework before going out to play. In college, I knew I needed to keep my scholarship. . . . It's all about priorities. You know when practice is, you know when class is, and you schedule everything else around that. There's very little down time for student-athletes."

Looking forward, Herschberger hopes to continue working at the Internet marketing company where he interned. "I'm excited to start networking with professionals and getting more into the business world," he says.

MSU DENVER

Established in 1965, Metropolitan State University of Denver enrolls 23,000 students and educates more undergraduate Coloradans than any other institution in the state. MSU Denver added master's programs to its offerings in 2010 and today celebrates the bestowal of master's degrees from all three graduate programs: professional accountancy, social work and teacher education.

MSU Denver is steadfast in its mission to provide students from all walks of life with high-quality, affordable, relevant education opportunities on our inclusive, urban campus, empowering them to succeed personally and professionally. MSU Denver is proud to enroll more students of color than any other four-year university in Colorado and is well on its way to achieving 25 percent Latino enrollment, which would qualify the University for the federal designation Hispanic Serving Institution.

As Colorado's urban land-grant university located in the heart of the state's largest metropolitan area, MSU Denver brings its resources and roll-up-your-sleeves ethic to a myriad of partnerships that impact our community. For example, the Center for Innovation's Franchise Ownership Program is working with a Denver investment company, which is bringing together institutional investors to create and manage a $25 million loan pool for participating franchisees. MSU Denver has a long-standing relationship with the Laboratory to Combat Human Trafficking, a collaboration that's changing lives on campus and in the community. MSU Denver is also partnering with Denver Public Schools in a federally funded program to recruit and train never-before teachers to fill critical classroom needs in DPS.

MSU Denver students are making their mark as well. MSU Denver's student robot team took first place in NASA's 2012 Colorado Space Grant Consortium robotics challenge held at the Great Sand Dunes National Park. The Precision Flight Team qualified for the national SAFECON competition for the third year in a row. In 2011, they brought home the Loening Trophy, the most prestigious national award given to a collegiate aviation program.

With the addition of these 1,900 members of the spring class of 2013, there are now more than 76,000 proud MSU Denver alumni, 75 percent of whom remain in Colorado to live and work. They help fuel the state's economy by running businesses, contributing to the nonprofit sector, teaching our children, serving in government at all levels and more.

And, they are achieving their dreams. For instance, Jim Saccomano is vice president of corporate communications for the Denver Broncos and David Thibodeau is president and co-owner of the highly successful Ska Brewing Company in Durango. Graduates outside Colorado are excelling as well. Brigadier General Laura Jane Richardson ('86, psychology) has joined an elite group of only about 30 women to have achieved that rank and Omar Hurricane, Ph.D. ('90, physics), a physicist at the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, received the U.S. Department of Energy's E.O. Lawrence Award for National Security and Nonproliferation and the NASA Exceptional Public Service Medal for a discovery that has improved the computer modeling of nuclear weapons, obviating the need for nuclear tests.

The accomplishments of our students and graduates, and the better lives that education brings them, create an undeniable influence that resonates from the Auraria Campus to all four corners of Colorado and beyond.

ACADEMIC ATTIRE

Academic attire is modeled after monks' clothing from the Middle Ages, when college faculty and students were members of religious orders. In England, the faculty of many colleges and universities still wear gowns, hoods and caps in the classroom.

In the early 20th century, colleges and universities throughout the world adopted guidelines for the design and colors of academic attire. An institution may design and register special attire for its administrators and graduates, but it must conform to certain standards. Once registered, the design/color combination may not be duplicated by other institutions.

The bachelor's gown is most often black and has long sleeves that taper to a point in the back. It is always worn closed. At MSU Denver, women do not wear a white collar with the gown. The hood worn by the President's Award recipient is an MSU Denver bachelor's degree hood and is worn by this student to represent the graduating class.

The gown signifying the master's degree is also usually black and may be worn open or closed. It features oblong sleeves that hang below the wrist, tapering to a square cut with a cutaway arc.

Although usually black, the doctoral gown is sometimes seen in colors—usually gold, purple, blue or red. The gown may be worn open or closed. The opening of the gown is faced with velvet and three velvet chevrons run across its bell-shaped sleeves. The velvet facing and chevrons may be black or the color representing the field of study.

The hood varies in length and shape according to the degree it represents—the shortest and smallest signifies the bachelor's degree and the longest and widest signifies the doctoral degree. The velvet bordering the hood represents the degree field of study.

The satin lining of the hood, each a specific design, represents the college or university at which the individual earned his or her degree.

The Oxford Cap, or mortarboard as it is better known, completes the attire. In place of the hood, bachelor's candidates at MSU Denver wear colored tassels on the Oxford Cap to represent the academic department of the University from which they earned their degrees. Those holding graduate degrees usually wear black tassels, but those holding doctoral degrees may wear tassels of gold thread, and may elect to wear a four-sided or eight-sided velvet tam instead of the Oxford Cap. Some universities have designated the Cambridge Cap, a large, soft beret, for their administrators and those who have earned a doctoral degree at that institution.

President Stephen Jordan is wearing the University's chain of office, a visible symbol of his authority as the institution's leader.

ACADEMIC COLORS

Academic Distinction

You will notice that some of our graduates are wearing one or more cords, stoles or medallions of various colors or designs about the neck of their gowns to represent high academic achievement. Those graduates who have achieved overall excellence are recognized by the University through three areas of distinction:

Summa Cum Laude (with highest praise)
Gold and blue cord

Magna Cum Laude (with great praise)
Silver and blue cord

Cum Laude (with praise)
Bronze and blue cord

The University encourages students to enroll in and complete an especially rigorous course of interdisciplinary study in addition to the individual's major and minor study degree requirements. This course of study is known as the Honors Program.
