Attend one (or all!) of the workshops listed below to join the Faculty Career Catalyst Community. Faculty Career Catalysts offer (or are working toward offering) experiences, advice, assignments, and activities that help guide students to identify and obtain a meaningful professional direction for life after graduation.

Research, Service & Teaching: Combining efforts to maximize your portfolio

September 24, 2021 | 10-11am | online

How do you strive for excellence in teaching while pursuing your research and service activities and still maintain your sanity? Learn how to integrate these 3 critical threads of faculty evaluation. Presented by Lori McKinney (lmckinn9@msudenver.edu), Service Learning Specialist and Kristy Duran (kduran16@msudenver.edu), Faculty Director of Undergraduate Research.

Graduate School Pathways: Supporting Faculty and Existing Graduate School Programs and Initiatives

October 6, 2021 | 2:00-2:50pm | online

Are you interested in helping students navigate the graduate school application process? The Graduate School Pathways Coordinator can assist. We will discuss current programs and initiatives that are supporting our Road Runners who want to pursue graduate degrees. Presented by Waleska Rivera-Shon (wriveras@msudenver.edu), Graduate School Pathways Coordinator.

Mentoring Students in Undergraduate Research or Service Learning

October 22, 2021 | 10-11am | online

Although we were mentored as students ourselves, we weren't necessarily trained in how to be effective mentors. If you haven't yet mentored students in undergraduate research or service learning, it can feel overwhelming. This workshop will cover mentoring best practices to help you get started. Presented by Lori McKinney (lmckinn9@msudenver.edu), Service Learning Specialist and Kristy Duran (kduran16@msudenver.edu), Faculty Director of Undergraduate Research.

Reframing Existing Assignments to Connect Career to Curriculum

October 26, 2021 | 12:30-1:45pm | online

Explicitly connecting coursework to employable skills does not necessarily require the creation of new course assignments. Bring an assignment you already use in one of your courses. Through collaboration with other attendees and the workshop leaders, you will explore how to make salient the connections between careers and curriculum. Presented by Pam Ansburg (ansburg@msudenver.edu) and the Faculty Engagement Team at the Classroom to Career Hub.

Syllabus Creation and Course Planning to Connect Career to Curriculum

November 12, 2021 | 12:30-1:45pm | online

The spring semester is right around the corner! Take this time to plan your course materials or syllabus in collaboration with your colleagues to explicitly reiterate the skills students are developing that they'll need for their futures and infuse career readiness practices. The Faculty Engagement Team will provide sample syllabus blurbs, assignment examples, and consultation to address the unique needs of your course. Presented by Pam Ansburg (ansburg@msudenver.edu) and the Faculty Engagement Team at the Classroom to Career Hub.
