By completing this form, you are requesting that the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships review your dependency status to determine if you qualify for a dependency override based on your family situation. Complete and accurate information is necessary to make a decision regarding your dependency status. If the information requested is NOT submitted with all necessary documentation, processing of your appeal will be delayed until the additional information is provided.

In order for your appeal to be considered, you must document an extreme, unique, and/or unusual family circumstance that prevents you from obtaining parental information. Examples include family abuse, neglect, parental abandonment, and/or other situations where contact between you and your parents is strained or non-existent.

- This appeal is valid for the 2022-2023 academic year. Once you have completed a 2022-2023 FAFSA (www.fafsa.gov), please submit the required documentation as outlined below. If you have not completed the FAFSA or are having issues completing the FAFSA, you may check the “Special Circumstances” box within the online FAFSA application. Checking this box will allow you to submit your application without having to provide parental information.
- Once your appeal has been reviewed, you will be notified via your MSU Denver email with the decision of your appeal. Please note that a denied Dependency Override Appeal means that parental information must be provided on the FAFSA.

Please indicate NEW APPEAL or PREVIOUSLY APPROVED APPEAL and attach all information listed below for applicable appeal.

New Appeal. Please complete and submit ALL of the following information:
