

ART + ACTION INTERNSHIP FALL 2020

Metropolitan State University of Denver

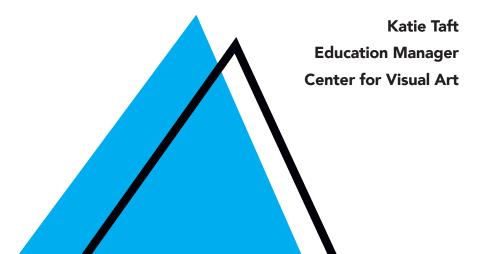

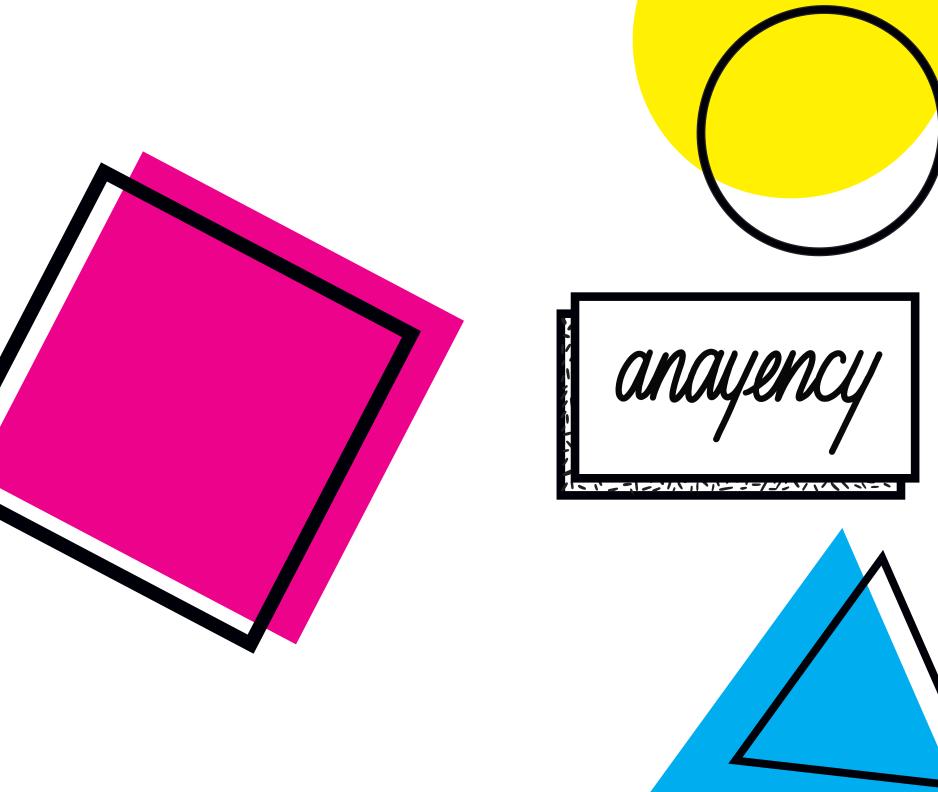

This document is the culmination of work created in the Art + Action Lab Teen Internship for fall 2020. The internship brings together students who are interested in creative careers from across the Denver Metro area. We make art to share with the public, meet with creative professionals from a wide range of industries, and build personal and professional skills and networks. The program provides an introduction into an art world that can appear mysterious and even impenetrable to those outside it.

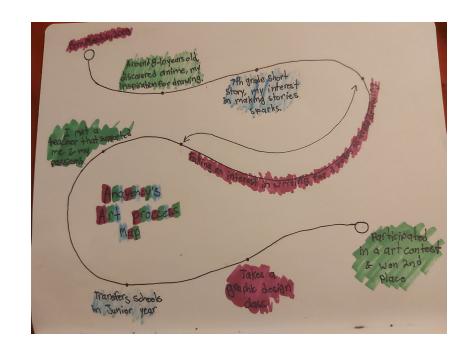

This fall we had 13 remarkable student interns whose work you can see here. They have shared their ideas with us in word and image. They've reflected on their personal stories, but in telling them they have shared something more universal, something that we can all relate to. Their voices are strong, and for me a guiding light through these unusual times.

While this year has been out of the ordinary in its physical isolation, it is important for all of us, but especially young people, to keep our attention focused towards where we want to be. While we are staying distant and learning virtually, we are still making progress towards what is to come next. There is a world out there awaiting our return, and if these students are any indication it will be an exciting future.

This work couldn't happen without the work of many people.

The Center for Visual Art's dedication to welcoming youth into the often impenetrable art world is clear and to be commended. Thank you to Cecily Cullen for steering the ship and bringing us the art that inspires this work. Thank you to Kristin Smith, Jenna Miles and Kimberly Wendt for your work behind the scenes to keep things running. Thank you to Holly Sherman, my Teaching Apprentice who brings her love and care to all involved in the program.

Many artists joined us in our virtual classroom as guest artists to inspire us and share their knowledge. Eriko Tsogo, Eileen Roscina, Gabe Cullen, Lares Felicaino, Anna Goss and Kyle Berkompas spoke in depth with the group about what they do and the path they took to get there. Other creatives spoke with the interns one-on-one giving them practical experience reaching out to professionals to expand their networks and gather information about their chosen career paths. Thank you to Trisha Hoke, Javier Flores, Rebecca Tischler, Visi Herman, Eric Tosfsted, Heather Link-Bergman, Nikki Hoof, Rachel LaGrandeur, Brandi Shigley, Anthony Camera, Cal Duran, Audrey Twigg, Danielle Cunningham and Max Ratkai for your mentorship.

And finally, thank you to Alyssa Mora for bringing everything together in this book you hold.

To everyone involved, thank you for your contribution.
