Dear Roadrunners

Congratulations on earning your degree from Metropolitan State University of Denver! What a momentous accomplishment that demonstrates what you are capable of when you set a goal and work diligently through to the end. That's cause for celebration!

I also want to thank the family, friends and mentors who encouraged you on your academic journey and helped you get to where you are today. Take the time to acknowledge those people who support you and remember to pay it forward now that you're a college graduate!

You are part of an outstanding graduating class: 1,676 undergraduates and 322 graduate students who are eligible to receive their degrees this May. You are all on your way to achieve great things in your communities and careers. I hope you'll stay in touch with your alma mater so we can celebrate you again in the future.

At MSU Denver, we educate changemakers, who turn ambition into achievement through hard work, determination, skill and heart. We know that higher education is an essential driver of upward economic and social mobility. That's why we offer a rigorous, accessible and enriching education that prepares students for successful careers, postgraduate education and lifelong learning.

Our students come from every background and experience, embodying the University's unique spirit and inclusive environment. We have first-generation college students showing others what's possible, veterans translating their leadership experience to the workforce and professionals changing directions in their careers. Our mission is to meet students where they are and take them where they want to go. They may have taken a zigzaggy path to get to here — nearly two-thirds of our graduates start college somewhere else — but they find their way to MSU Denver and graduate as proud Roadrunners.

Today, you join an alumni community of more than 100,000 graduates. And not just any alumni, but legislators going to Congress, engineers building equipment to go to Mars, health care professionals saving lives, teachers educating future Roadrunners, and many others who are at the very top of their fields. Roadrunners power Colorado's economy, with almost 80% of alumni remaining in Colorado long-term. In fact, the direct economic impact of their wages earned over a 35-year career amounts to $134.9 billion.

Now that you've climbed this peak and earned your degree, set your sights on your next summit and trek confidently! Though your path may take you through some valleys, you are well-equipped to succeed because you're a Roadrunner. Best of luck!

Sincerely,

Academic Regalia

Academic attire is modeled after monks' clothing from the Middle Ages, when college faculty and students were members of religious orders. In England, the faculty members of many colleges and universities still wear gowns, hoods and caps in the classroom.

In the early 20th century, colleges and universities throughout the world adopted guidelines for the design and colors of academic regalia. An institution may design and register special attire for its administrators and graduates, but it must conform to certain standards. Once registered, the design and color combination may not be duplicated by other institutions.

The bachelor's gown is most often black and has long sleeves that taper to a point in the back. It is always worn closed.

The gown signifying the master's degree also is usually black but may be worn open or closed. It features oblong sleeves that hang below the wrist, tapering to a square cut with a cutaway arc.

Although usually black, the doctoral gown is sometimes seen in colors — often gold, purple, blue or red. The gown may be worn open or closed. The opening of the gown is faced with velvet, and three velvet chevrons run across its bell-shaped sleeves.

The velvet facing and chevrons may be black or the color representing the graduate's field of study.

The hood varies in length and shape according to the degree it represents: The shortest and smallest signifies a bachelor's degree, and the longest and widest signifies a doctoral degree.

The velvet bordering the hood represents the graduate's field of study.

The satin lining of the hood, each a specific design, represents the college or university at which the individual earned his or her degree.

The Oxford cap, or mortarboard as it is better known, completes the attire. Those holding graduate degrees usually wear black tassels on the Oxford cap, but those holding doctoral degrees may wear tassels of gold thread and may also elect to wear a four-sided or eight-sided velvet tam instead of the Oxford cap. Some universities have designated the Cambridge cap — a large, soft beret — for their administrators and those who have earned a doctoral degree at that institution.

At MSU Denver, bachelor's candidates wear colored tassels on the Oxford cap to represent the academic department from which they earned their degrees. Master's candidates wear a hood with the representative color.

In addition to her academic regalia, President Janine Davidson, Ph.D., wears the University's medallion of office, a visible symbol of her authority as the institution's leader.

Morning Ceremony Keynote Speaker: Denver Mayor Michael B. Hancock

Michael B. Hancock is serving his third term as Denver's 45th mayor and is the second African American to hold the position. He is a member of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, where he chairs the Communications and Transportation committee, is Vice President of the National Conference of Democratic Mayors and is a member of the African American Mayor's Association.

Raised in Denver since he was 10 months old, Mayor Hancock found his passion and purpose in serving the city and the people he loves.

Equity is the foundation of his public service and the intention that drives his leadership, from the start of his career at the Denver Housing Authority and the National Civic League, to becoming the youngest President of an Urban League chapter in America, to today as a third-term Mayor of the City and County Denver.

Mayor Hancock has never looked away from a challenge — meeting the needs of the community by helping organizations with fiscal management, civic engagement, and better governance. He honed those skills in the non-profit and private sectors and brought them to the Denver City Council, where he served for eight years including two terms as City Council President.

Mayor Hancock pledged that Denver would build back better — a promise he had fulfilled once before in the years following the Great Recession. Prioritizing public safety, housing and economic recovery — he crafted a bond package with infrastructure investments that will bring long term benefits to compliment federal aid to sustain Denver's economic recovery and growth, expand opportunity, and ensure prosperity for more residents, businesses and families into the future.

The Mayor is a die-hard Denver Broncos fan. He earned a B.A. from Hastings College and a Master of Public Administration from the University of Colorado, Denver.

Mayor Hancock is the proud father of three children and doting grandfather to an adorable granddaughter.

Afternoon Ceremony Keynote Speaker: Dawn P. Bookhardt, J.D.

Dawn's experience includes serving as counsel to land developers such as Forest City (aka Brookfield Development) for the redevelopment of the Stapleton Airport and LNR Properties for the development of HighPoint at DIA. She represented the Denver Union Station Executive Oversight Committee and the Denver Union Station Project Authority in the redevelopment of Denver Union Station, a multi-modal transportation hub in the City of Denver. She represented a private developer in the development and negotiation of off-shore, residential, retail and commercial development agreements related to the improvement of an island venture including restaurants, lodging facilities, a shopping center, luxury villas and beach concessions. She has also represented municipalities, underwriters and development entities for the development of several publicly financed hotels in Denver, Colorado, Omaha, Nebraska and Baltimore, Maryland, and Austin, Texas.

Dawn received the Urban League of Denver Chairman's Award (2015) and has been named one of Colorado Women's Chamber of Commerce Top 25 Most Powerful Women (2013). She has been named one of Urban Spectrum Magazine's Timeless Legends (2012), received the National Republican Congressional Committee's Business Advisory Council National Leadership Award (2002), and the Women of Excellence Award (2002). She has also received the Urban League of Colorado's Chairman Award, and the Colorado Black Women for Political Action's Corporate Business Award. She has also received the Mayor of Denver's "Coin to the City" for Community service in Denver, Colorado, among other recognitions.

She is the Vice Chair of the General Law and Diversity Committees of the National Association of Bond Lawyers. She is also active in community organizations and serves as the Chairman of the Metropolitan State University of Denver Foundation, Secretary of the Board of Directors of Denver Botanical Gardens, and a member of Colorado Black Women for Political Action and the Colorado Black Chamber of Commerce.

Cielo Garcia Chavez, Provost's Award Winner

To understand Cielo Garcia Chavez, you only have to go back to her senior year in high school, when she was applying for college scholarships.

Despite receiving over 20 rejections, she kept at it. Then, just before graduation, she learned she'd been granted four scholarships — enough to cover four years at Metropolitan State University of Denver.

Chavez graduated from high school in 2019 in the top 10 of her class and with 32 college credits. And this May, the Criminal Justice major will graduate from Metropolitan State University of Denver with a 3.99 GPA and the 2023 Provost's Award for student achievement.

As the second-oldest daughter among five kids, Chavez was 9 years old when she started taking care of her three younger siblings while her parents worked.

Then at age 14, Chavez and her parents were in a horrifying car accident.

"When I looked in the mirror, I didn't recognize myself," she said. "I had to get up every day to go to chiropractic and doctors' appointments. I felt lost and frustrated and had many days I wanted to give up, but I didn't let the roadblocks from my own body stop me."

At MSU Denver, she earned a 4.0 GPA her first year and was selected to be a member of the National Society of Collegiate Scholars. In fall 2021, Chavez joined some classmates and Lunden MacDonald, a professor of Modern Languages, to restart the Spanish Club — hosting events, meetings and workshops.

"We've created an environment where students felt comfortable practicing their Spanish and learning about different cultural heritages," Chavez said.

Chavez, who's leaning toward working in victim advocacy, added, "MSU Denver is my second home. I didn't have a dream school when I graduated from high school, but it turned out to be a dream come true."

Aidan Quinn, President's Award Winner

Aidan Quinn said that above all else, he's devoted to hard work. It's tough to argue that he's not.

While studying Biology full-time at Metropolitan State University of Denver, Quinn worked as a unmanned aircraft system operator for the National Guard, an emergency medical technician and an Organic Chemistry learning assistant. He landed on the President's Honor Roll three times with a 4.0 GPA and won the 2023 President's Award for student achievement.

"To say this has been difficult is an understatement," Quinn said. "I've had to persevere with all my effort to maintain proficiency in my classes while working 14-hour days for six days at a time. I'm devoted and passionate to succeed and represent MSU Denver proudly."

Quinn said he wasn't really born with any specific talents, so he decided at age 16 to work hard and achieve more than he ever thought possible. And it turns out, Quinn had an unlikely aid during his long days and nights of school and work: obsessive-compulsive disorder.

"I've been clinically diagnosed with OCD, and it drives me to succeed and persevere despite immense discomfort," he said. "I just try new things and wonder what I could accomplish if I tried my absolute best."

One of Quinn's professors, Shailesh Ambre, assistant professor of Chemistry and Biochemistry, said Quinn is kind, trustworthy, intelligent, devoted and reliable.

"Aidan is a lot more than an overachieving student," Ambre said.

Quinn, who'll speak at the MSU Denver Commencement ceremony in May, said he plans to tell the audience he believes MSU Denver graduates are some of the most dedicated students anywhere.

"Here, you see hardworking adults dedicated to their academics and to pursuing a better life," he said. "It's truly impressive the sort of unique people I've met at this school."
