

Are you interested in becoming a mentor for local high school students?

Peer Health Exchange (PHE) seeks to empower local high school students with the knowledge, skills, and resources they need to make healthy decisions and to address healthcare disparities within our local communities. We do this by training college students to teach a skills-based health curriculum in under-resourced high schools throughout Denver.

We are currently looking for ALL MSU Denver students (graduate and undergraduate) who are willing to serve as peer health educators and co-coordinators in local high school classrooms. These peer health educators will teach curriculum from the PHE Pathways and Centered programs, and be trained in effective education practice. The curriculum covers such themes as:

- Substance Use
- Sexual Health (NOT abstinence only practices)
- Mental Health
- Accessing Resources
- Personal Identity

If you are interested in learning more about the program and how you can become a part of it, contact Erin Seedorf (eseedorf@msudenver.edu)

Applications open soon!

Please contact Erin Seedorf at eseedorf@msudenver.edu for more information

Benefits

Pay: $17.29/hr

- Option to also take the course for 3 credit hours while being paid
- Receive recommendations and references for graduate school, internships, fellowships, awards, and jobs
- CAN BE USED FOR INTERNSHIP CREDIT
Develop strong facilitation and classroom management skills through firsthand
- classroom experience
- Establish a presence as a leader in local, Denver high schools
- Develop valuable interview and job skills such as public speaking and interpersonal skills

Job Duties

- 10-15 hours per week time commitment
- Flexible Schedule
- Learn PHE workshops and how to teach them effectively
- Commit to teaching two-four workshops per week in an assigned PHE partner high school (avg. 60 minutes each)
- Use a positive youth development approach and ensure LGBTQ+ and minority student inclusivity in all programming
- Participate in weekly workshop group meetings and attend the required in-person orientation prior to the beginning of the
- Fall semester