Dear Roadrunners

Congratulations on earning your degree from Metropolitan State University of Denver! This momentous accomplishment demonstrates what you are capable of when you set a goal and work diligently through to the end. That's cause for celebration.

I especially want to thank the family, friends and mentors who encouraged you on your academic journey and helped you get to where you are today. Please take the time to acknowledge those people who support you and remember to pay it forward now that you're a college graduate.

You are part of an outstanding graduating class — 1,205 undergraduates and 126 graduate students who are eligible to receive their degrees this December. You are all on your way to achieve great things in your communities and careers. I hope you'll stay in touch with your alma mater so we can celebrate you again in the future.

At MSU Denver, we educate Changemakers, skilled at turning ambition into achievement through hard work, determination and heart. We know that higher education is an essential driver of upward economic and social mobility. That's why we offer a rigorous, accessible and enriching education that prepares students for successful careers, postgraduate education and lifelong learning.

Our students come from every background and experience, embodying the University's unique spirit and inclusive environment. We have first-generation college students showing others what's possible, veterans translating their leadership experience to the workforce and professionals changing directions in their careers.

Our mission is to meet students where they are and take them where they want to go. They may have taken a roundabout route to get here — nearly two-thirds of our graduates start college somewhere else — but they find their home at MSU Denver and graduate as proud Roadrunners.

Today, you join an alumni community of more than 105,000 graduates. Roadrunner alumni are scientists working to cure cancer, legislators going to Congress, engineers building equipment to go to Mars, health care professionals saving lives, teachers educating future Roadrunners, and many others who are at the very top of their fields.

Now that you've climbed this peak and earned your degree, I hope you'll set your sights on your next summit and trek confidently. Though your path may take you through some valleys, you are well-equipped to succeed, because you're a Roadrunner. Best of luck!

Sincerely,

Academic Regalia

Academic attire is modeled after monks' clothing from the Middle Ages, when college faculty and students were members of religious orders. In England, the faculty members of many colleges and universities still wear gowns, hoods and caps in the classroom.

In the early 20th century, colleges and universities throughout the world adopted guidelines for the design and colors of academic regalia. An institution may design and register special attire for its administrators and graduates, but it must conform to certain standards. Once registered, the design and color combination may not be duplicated by other institutions.

The bachelor's gown is most often black and has long sleeves that taper to a point in the back. It is always worn closed.

The gown signifying the master's degree also is usually black but may be worn open or closed. It features oblong sleeves that hang below the wrist, tapering to a square cut with a cutaway arc.

Although usually black, the doctoral gown is sometimes seen in colors — often gold, purple, blue or red. The gown may be worn open or closed. The opening of the gown is faced with velvet, and three velvet chevrons run across its bell-shaped sleeves.

The velvet facing and chevrons may be black or the color representing the graduate's field of study.

The hood varies in length and shape according to the degree it represents: the shortest and smallest signifies a bachelor's degree, and the longest and widest signifies a doctoral degree.

The velvet bordering the hood represents the graduate's field of study.

The satin lining of the hood, each a specific design, represents the college or university at which the individual earned his or her degree.

The Oxford cap, or mortarboard as it is better known, completes the attire. Those holding graduate degrees usually wear black tassels on the Oxford cap, but those holding doctoral degrees may wear tassels of gold thread and may also elect to wear a four-sided or eight-sided velvet tam instead of the Oxford cap. Some universities have designated the Cambridge cap — a large, soft beret — for their administrators and those who have earned a doctoral degree at that institution.

At MSU Denver, bachelor's candidates wear colored tassels on the Oxford cap to represent the academic department from which they earned their degrees. Master's candidates wear a hood with the representative color.

In addition to her academic regalia, President Janine Davidson, Ph.D., wears the University's medallion of office, a visible symbol of her authority as the institution's leader.

Academic Colors

Master's Degree Hood Colors

Business (MBA, M.P.Acc.) – Drab

Cybersecurity (M.S.) – Gold

Morning Ceremony Keynote Speaker: Bobby LeFebre

Bobby LeFebre is an award-winning writer, performer and cultural worker fusing a non-traditional multi-hyphenated professional identity to imagine new realities, empower communities, advance arts and culture, and serve as an agent of provocation, transformation, equity and social change. LeFebre's work has appeared in The New York Times, Huffington Post, The Guardian, American Theater Magazine, NPR and Poets.org. In 2019, LeFebre was named Colorado Theater Person of the Year, as well as appointed as Colorado's 8th Poet Laureate, making him the youngest and first person of color to be appointed to the position in its 100-year history. LeFebre was named a National Catalyst for Change Fellow in 2020 and an Academy of American Poets Poet Laureate Fellow in 2021. Recently, LeFebre served as the Lead Consultant in reimagining Denver's Cultural Plan and was appointed by the Governor to serve on the Colorado Creative Industries Advisory Council. LeFebre holds a bachelor's degree in Psychology from Metropolitan State University of Denver and a master's degree in Art, Literature and Culture from the University of Denver.

In 2004, LeFebre co-founded a now transitioned award-winning nonprofit organization, Cafe Cultura, which was dedicated to utilizing poetry as a tool for youth literacy and educational and cultural development. Café Cultura uplifted and amplified marginalized voices — specifically Latinx and indigenous voices — across the Denver Metro area. LeFebre is a two-time TEDx speaker and has performed at hundreds of cultural events, social actions, detention centers, conferences and colleges and universities across the United States and abroad.

Afternoon Ceremony Keynote Speaker: Kathy Sabine

Kathy Sabine is the Chief Meteorologist at 9NEWS in Denver, Colorado. She is in her 31st year with 9NEWS and is now back to the nightside working on 4, 5, 6, 9 and 10 p.m. newscasts. She also received this year's best weather award by the Colorado Broadcasters Association (CBA). Kathy has seven Heartland Emmy Awards for best meteorologist and has six CBA awards and two AP awards, one for news writing.

Kathy has worked in television since she graduated from Cal Poly State University in San Luis Obispo, California. Along with her forecasting work, Kathy has spent time anchoring the news, reporting, producing and writing. She has also spent time behind the scenes in production as a chyron operator, camera operator, audio technician, floor director and tape operator.

Kathy developed a love of the outdoors and nature in her hometown of Truckee, a small mountain town in northern California near Lake Tahoe. She learned to ski when she was two, and her family was very involved in the ski industry when she was a child. Kathy was also very involved with horses and rodeo.

Kathy began college studying to be a veterinarian. She started work on her first degree in Veterinary Science at Cal Poly, later switching her major to Journalism. Kathy's work on her second degree in Meteorology began years later at Metropolitan State College in Denver as well as at Mississippi State University. After obtaining her first degree, Kathy began her television career at the NBC affiliate in San Luis Obispo then went on to work for ABC in Santa Barbara, Fox in Salinas/Monterey and ABC in San Jose California. Kathy has filled in on the Today Show in New York for Al Roker during the week and for Chief Meteorologist Janice Huff from WNBC in New York on the weekend edition around three dozen times over the years.

Kathy is married with two sons and a daughter. When she is not at 9NEWS, you can find her enjoying the beautiful Colorado outdoors by riding her horses, running, skiing or hiking. Kathy also donates time to local charities and animal shelters. She enjoys visiting school classrooms, sharing her knowledge of weather and the environment with children and hopefully inspiring girls to pursue careers in math and science. Kathy is proud to be a foundation board member for Teen With a Dream, a youth cancer organization. She is involved with the National Western Stock Show, Colorado Horse Council and local 4H and FFA organizations.

Natalie Gramer, Provost's Award Winner

When Natalie Gramer pilots a plane, the world below recedes. “It just makes sense,” she said. “You look out over the city, at the views in front of you, and everything melts away.”

Gramer will graduate from MSU Denver with an impressive 3.96 GPA and two bachelor's degrees: one in Aviation and Aerospace Science and one in English.

Though her aspirations lie skyward, the pilot said service keeps her grounded. “Being a student at MSU Denver has really shaped me into a professional, but it's also helped give me dedication and a passion for servitude to others,” she said.

As a female licensed commercial pilot, Gramer is part of a minority in the profession. According to the International Civil Aviation Organization, women made up 4.9% of the aviation industry in 2021. Though that number is growing, Gramer says she has always been aware that she's an outlier.

At first, she said, “I had no idea what I was doing. I felt very isolated, very alone.” Then, she helped co-found a chapter of Women in Aviation International at MSU Denver, serving as its president and connecting with other women with futures in aviation and aeronautics.

“Creating that community and watching it blossom over the years has really helped shape me into someone who looks out for others,” she said. The group has grown into one of the most thriving student organizations on campus, and in 2022, Gramer helped revive Alpha Eta Rho, an aviation-focused fraternity, on campus.

She said the best thing about the Provost's Award is the platform it will give her to encourage and inspire others. “I want to send them off (at Commencement) with all the love and support and encouragement I have for the University,” she said.

Justin Guy, President's Award Winner

A formerly homeless high school dropout, Justin Guy has come a long way, realizing his dreams of becoming a musician and educator and making a significant impact on the lives of those around him along the way.

After earning an associate's degree, he transferred to MSU Denver, a place where there are "so many different kinds of people, but you never feel out of place," he said. In no time, the History and Biology major was not only interning at History Colorado but winning its 2022 Volunteer of the Year award and working as a museum educator.

Guy grew up in a Denver neighborhood rife with gang violence. He "hung out with the wrong crowd," began using drugs and left school before finishing 10th grade.

After moving to Hawaii, he dedicated himself to playing guitar with a laserlike focus that eventually led to his becoming homeless. When he found himself facing a misdemeanor charge due to local anti-solicitation laws, he took action, contacting the ACLU. Thanks in part to his efforts, the laws were repealed in 2014.

With a renewed desire to serve, Guy returned to Colorado. Some of his fondest memories were of visiting museums, and he was determined to work in one. Through his MSU Denver internship with History Colorado, he was able to research the Native American boarding school at Fort Lewis College.

"Being part Native made (the research) emotionally challenging and deeply rewarding," said Guy. The museum work inspired a new vocation; Guy plans to earn a master's degree in teaching and work in a neighborhood like the one where he grew up.

"I don't think a lot of teachers were trained to deal with kids like us," he said. "But coming from that, I connect with them."
