SOE faculty spend significant amounts of time in Colorado schools and facilities each semester.

MSU Denver faculty are deeply involved in schools and other facilities that provide educational services to children throughout Colorado, particularly around metropolitan Denver.

Faculty Time Spent in Schools per Semester (maximum):

- Full-time Faculty: 260 hours
- Adjunct Faculty: 200 hours

Faculty activities in schools include:

- Teaching SOE classes
- Supervising SOE students as they teach PreK - 12th grade students
- Conducting professional development with teachers

- Providing advocacy for children and parents
- Meeting with teachers and administrators concerning joint initiatives
- Conducting research
- Volunteering in classrooms and offices

Our students spend a lot of time in schools, too.

- Early Childhood: 800 to 1060 hours
- Elementary: 805 to 975 hours
- Secondary/K-12: 820 to 850 hours
- Special Education: 800 to 880 hours

* Many students exceed the number of required hours in the classroom for their program.

During the pandemic, student hours fluctuated due to availability of classroom placements
