

Supernova: Anthologies of becoming

Overview: A Dance and Interdisciplinary Performance Event co-produced by the MSU Denver Theatre and Dance Department and the MSU Denver Center for Visual Art

Date and Time: Friday, October 24 at 7:30pm

Location: MSU Denver Center for Visual Art (965 Santa Fe Drive in Denver; located in the Santa Fe Arts District)

Event Description: The MSU Denver Dance Program and the MSU Denver Center for Visual Art present Supernova: Anthologies of becoming on Friday, October 24 at 7:30pm. This interdisciplinary performance event is inspired by works and themes featured in CVA's Dance of Resistance exhibition. Students in the Interdisciplinary Performance course engage with the stunning artworks in the exhibition in this immersive, multidisciplinary performance event that they co-created as a collective. Supernova explores our human experiences of conformity and our fight for individual freedom, as we spiral towards the dream of becoming unapologetically ourselves. Loosely based on the work and life experience of ancient Greek poet, Sappho, the performers become modern day "mythweavers," offering an invitation for the audience to experience soul-stitching storytelling in real time. Supernova weaves new truths, new beginnings, and pathways to healing, letting stars scatter, align, and shine the way they want to.

Please join us for this unique event, which is part of an ongoing series of collaborations between the MSU Denver dance program and the Center for Visual Art. Supernova is free and open to the public, but space is limited, so please register in advance to reserve a spot.

Registration: Please register in advance for this free event, as space is limited:

Parking & Transport: There is a small parking lot at CVA, but it fills quickly. If driving to this event, it is likely that you will need to find street parking which is available in the surrounding neighborhood. Please allow extra time for this. A bike rack is available near the CVA entrance. Visitors will be asked to leave large items such as bike helmets or backpacks at the front desk. There are also public transportation options that drop off within walking distance of CVA.
