

January Blog Post – Spring Semester!

Welcome back and Happy New Year!! Classes are just around the corner, but you should still take some time for yourself! Don't have any ideas? Here are a few recommendations with some of which are for the new Spring Semester students:

- Do a little tech check, make sure your materials are working well
- Review your schedule for your classes. Map out where your classes are!
- Prepare your supplies
- Make a routine plan
- Have a new roommate? Get to know them!
- Look through clubs on MSU Denver's RoadrunnerLink website!
- Go on walks to clear your mind
- And of course, get good rest!

When classes do start, here are some awesome events you could attend in Colorado:

- The Ouray Ice Festival is the largest ice climbing event, where the best ice climbers from around the world compete! Taking place at the Ouray Ice Park from January 22nd to 25th
- Aspen will be holding the Winter X Games from the 23rd to the 25th! There are various competitions for skiing, snowboarding, and snowmobiling.
- Meet the players of the Rockies on the 24th! Get your autographs and attend Q&A sessions, check out the Family Feud Game Show featuring players & fans, shop unbeatable deals at their Garage Sale, and test their ping pong skills in the Kids Zone against a Rockies player!
- Enter The.Secret.World.of.Elephants at the Denver Museum of Nature & Science to discover the remarkable science behind nature's most lovable giants, held until the 25th.

That's all for now! Stay warm and have an amazing January <3
