

November Blog Post – What to do over Fall Break?

As fall slowly starts to end, it becomes colder as winter comes in. In November, Fall Break happens! From the 24th to the 28th, classes are out, and students can rest. You may have no idea how to use this time, so let us give you some fun recommendations:

- Of course, prepare for Thanksgiving -- a harvest holiday in which Americans gather in a spirit of gratitude and reflection!
- Settle in at home and read a book or watch fall-themed movies
- Start planning or shopping for the winter holidays
- Go on a stroll outside to look at the colorful fall leaves
- Visit a corn maze—just don't get lost!

Want to go out? Here are some fun events happening in Colorado:

- The Mile High Tree lighting ceremony will take place on Friday, Nov. 21st at 5:15 PM in Civic Center Park.
- You can also attend the Denver Christkindlmarket on-campus at the Tivoli Quad -- also starting Nov. 21st and open every day until mid-December.
- Starting on Sunday Nov. 23rd, head over to the Denver Zoo to see them light up over three million lights across 80 acres of the park! This event runs from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m., so dress warmly! It'll be open for the whole week.
- In Boulder, on the same day, the lights at Pearl Street Mall, the Civic Area, and around Boulder County will be switched on – showing an amazing and beautiful light show!
- On Saturday Nov. 29th, the Holistic Art Fair is being held in Florence! It's a long drive, but it'll be worth it to see the beautiful art the vendors provide.

That's all for now—have an amazing November and stay warm!
